

dont-use-client-side writeup

When you inspect element the page, the body of the html source has a javascript function which stores the flag in fragments

Combining the fragments in order gives the flag